Thank you. There are no licensees under the patents (including Apple), right?

Regards,
Julie

Julie,

Yes. ReQuest offered the patent to Apple last month. They responded that they did not want to buy it but were interested in getting a license. I told them we were looking for a buyer, not a license.

Peter -

Just curious -- has ReQuest ever offered this patent to Apple or had any discussions with Apple?

Thank you,
Julie

Julie,

We did not receive the updated term sheet on Friday, and now expect it by Monday 5PM. Based on past offers, we usually get 2 days. So I expect a Wednesday 5PM deadline for us. That gives you a little more time. I will try to delay and give you as much time as I can, but as this is our 3rd revision of the term sheet, I don't see additional delays. If anything changes here I will let you know.

I have told our board about your interest and the possible [REDACTED] offer. They are interest and ready to review if you can complete your processes.

Thanks for the update.

Peter

Hi Peter -

We are working with our business unit to get their approval for this transaction, and hope to have an update by Monday your time. In the meantime, I was wondering if there are any developments on your end? We would like to know if there has been any delay/extension, as any extra time would be very helpful to us.

Regards,
Julie

Dear Ms. Shin,

Thank you for taking the time to call last evening. I have indicated that Samsung has some interest and Mr. Peter Cholnoky the CEO of ReQuest told me that he would welcome a call today. He asked me to give you his cell phone number (518-301-1893) and indicated that if you don't reach him to leave a message about what time it would be convenient for him to return your call. I will also copy him on this email so you can respond that way as well. Please let me know if I can be of any further assistance.

Best regards,

Charles
